The Fund is closed to all new investors and all additional investments from existing shareholders, except for purchases made through reinvestment of dividends or capital gains distributions. Re-registration of accounts held by existing investors, if required for legal transfer or administrative reasons, will be allowed.

The Board of Trustees of Franklin Tax-Free Trust (Trust) recently approved a proposal to reorganize the Franklin Double Tax-Free Income Fund (Fund) with and into the Franklin High Yield Tax-Free Income Fund, each a series of the Trust. It is anticipated that in the first quarter of 2016, shareholders of the Fund will receive a Proxy and a Prospectus/Proxy Statement requesting their votes on the proposed reorganization. If approved by the Fund's shareholders, the transaction is currently expected to be completed on or about April 29, 2016. The Fund reserves the right to change the above at any time.

Investment Goal

Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of the period. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$499	$658	$829	$1,327
Class C	$234	$418	$723	$1,590
Advisor Class	$68	$214	$373	$835
If you do not sell your shares:
Class C	$134	$418	$723	$1,590

Portfolio Turnover

The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual Fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 0.42% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Under normal market conditions, the Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets in securities whose interest is free from federal income taxes, including the federal alternative minimum tax. In addition, the Fund normally invests at least 80% of its net assets in securities whose interest is free from state personal income taxes. Although the Fund tries to invest all of its assets in tax-free securities, it is possible that up to 20% of the Fund's net assets may be in securities that pay interest that may be subject to the federal alternative minimum tax and, although not anticipated, in securities that pay taxable interest.

Click to view the fund's prospectus or statement of additional information.

The Fund focuses on the municipal securities of U.S. territories, such as Puerto Rico, Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Because of the Fund's historical focus on Puerto Rico municipal securities, the Fund's portfolio may consist to a large extent of such securities.

The Fund only buys municipal securities rated, at the time of purchase, in one of the top four ratings categories by one or more U.S. nationally recognized rating services (or comparable unrated or short-term rated securities).

The Fund is a non-diversified fund, which means it generally invests a greater portion of its assets in the securities of one or more issuers and invests overall in a smaller number of issuers than a diversified fund.

Although the investment manager will search for investments across a large number of municipal securities that finance different types of projects, from time to time, based on economic conditions, the Fund may have significant positions in municipal securities that finance similar types of projects.

The investment manager selects securities that it believes will provide the best balance between risk and return within the Fund's range of allowable investments and typically uses a buy and hold strategy. This means it generally holds securities in the Fund's portfolio for income purposes, rather than trading securities for capital gains, although the investment manager may sell a security at any time if it believes it could help the Fund meet its goal.

Principal Risks

You could lose money by investing in the Fund. Mutual fund shares are not deposits or obligations of, or guaranteed or endorsed by, any bank, and are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Reserve Board, or any other agency of the U.S. government.

Puerto Rico and U.S. Territories Because the Fund focuses on the municipal securities of U.S. territories, events in territories such as Puerto Rico, Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands are likely to affect the Fund's investments and its performance. These events may include economic or political policy changes, tax base erosion, territory constitutional limits on tax increases, budget deficits and other financial difficulties, and changes in the credit ratings assigned to a territory's municipal issuers. As with Puerto Rico, Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands municipal securities, events in any of the other territories where the Fund is invested may affect the Fund's investments and its performance.

Puerto Rico and its municipal issuers have continued to experience significant financial difficulties, which have created additional strain on a commonwealth already facing economic stagnation and fiscal imbalances, including budget deficits, underfunded pensions, high unemployment, a decline in population, significant debt service obligations, liquidity issues, and reduced access to financial markets. Credit rating firms have repeatedly downgraded Puerto Rico's general obligation debt, along with the ratings of certain related Puerto Rico issuers, further below investment grade. Although recent Puerto Rico legislation that would have allowed certain Puerto Rico public corporations to seek protection from creditors and to restructure their debt should they become insolvent has been ruled unconstitutional, Puerto Rico has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to review this ruling, and Puerto Rico continues to seek the expansion of Chapter 9 bankruptcy eligibility to Puerto Rico. The governor of Puerto Rico has publicly called for a restructuring of Puerto Rico debt obligations and certain other Puerto Rico issuers continue to negotiate with creditors for a financial restructuring. In addition, a Puerto Rico agency recently failed to make scheduled debt payments. A restructuring of some or all of the commonwealth's debt, or a further decline in market prices of Puerto Rico debt obligations, may affect the Fund's investments and its performance.

Because the Fund has historically invested primarily in Puerto Rico municipal securities, the Fund's portfolio may consist to a large extent of such securities. These holdings may fluctuate more in value, be harder to sell and value, and be subject to greater credit risk than investment grade securities. Although the Fund is closed to new investments, it still must invest any net cash generated through the maturity or sale of portfolio holdings and dividend and capital gain reinvestments. If the Fund is unable to find sufficient Puerto Rico or other U.S. territory bonds that meet its investment policies, it may be unable to meet its investment goal.

The discussion above does not include all relevant facts or economic or political conditions that may affect the ability of municipal issuers to meet their debt obligations, and is subject to change without notice. The information provided is based on data as of August 10, 2015, from historically reliable sources, but the investment manager has not independently verified it. This information could change quickly and without notice and is generally only updated annually.

Interest Rate When interest rates rise, debt security prices generally fall. The opposite is also generally true: debt security prices rise when interest rates fall. Interest rate changes are influenced by a number of factors, including government policy, monetary policy, inflation expectations, perceptions of risk, and supply and demand of bonds. In general, securities with longer maturities or durations are more sensitive to these interest rate changes.

Market The market values of securities or other investments owned by the Fund will go up or down, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably. A security's market value may be reduced by market activity or other results of supply and demand unrelated to the issuer. This is a basic risk associated with all securities. When there are more sellers than buyers, prices tend to fall. Likewise, when there are more buyers than sellers, prices tend to rise.

Credit An issuer of debt securities may fail to make interest payments or repay principal when due, in whole or in part. Changes in an issuer's financial strength or in a security's credit rating may affect a security's value.

A change in the credit rating of a municipal bond insurer that insures securities in the Fund's portfolio may affect the value of the securities it insures, the Fund's share price and Fund performance. The Fund might also be adversely impacted by the inability of an insurer to meet its insurance obligations.

Focus The Fund may invest more than 25% of its assets in municipal securities that finance similar types of projects, such as utilities, hospitals, higher education and transportation. A change that affects one project, such as proposed legislation on the financing of the project, a shortage of the materials needed for the project, or a declining need for the project, would likely affect all similar projects, thereby increasing market risk.

Tax-Exempt Securities While the Fund endeavors to purchase only bona fide tax-exempt securities (i.e., a security issued as paying tax-exempt interest income), there are risks that: (a) a tax-exempt security may be reclassified by the Internal Revenue Service, or a state tax authority, as paying taxable interest income instead and/or (b) future legislative, administrative or court actions could adversely impact the qualification of income from a tax-exempt security as tax-free. Such reclassifications or actions could cause interest from a security to become taxable, possibly retroactively, subjecting you to increased tax liability. In addition, such reclassifications or actions could cause the value of the security, and therefore the value of the Fund's shares, to decline.

Income Because the Fund can only distribute what it earns, the Fund's distributions to shareholders may decline when prevailing interest rates fall or when the Fund experiences defaults on debt securities it holds.

Prepayment Prepayment risk occurs when a debt security can be repaid in whole or in part prior to the security's maturity and the Fund must reinvest the proceeds it receives, during periods of declining interest rates, in securities that pay a lower rate of interest.

Non-Diversification Because the Fund is non-diversified, it may be more sensitive to economic, business, political or other changes affecting individual issuers or investments than a diversified fund, which may result in greater fluctuation in the value of the Fund's shares and greater risk of loss.

Liquidity From time to time, the trading market for a particular security or type of security in which the Fund invests may become less liquid or even illiquid. Reduced liquidity will have an adverse impact on the Fund's ability to sell such securities when necessary to meet the Fund's liquidity needs or in response to a specific economic event and will also generally lower the value of a security. Market prices for such securities may be volatile.

Management The Fund is subject to management risk because it is an actively managed investment portfolio. The Fund's investment manager applies investment techniques and risk analyses in making investment decisions for the Fund, but there can be no guarantee that these decisions will produce the desired results.
