The strategy

Franklin Rising Dividends Fund

Consistent and robust dividend growth is a likely marker for earnings growth, good corporate governance and a resilient business model. While other funds may screen for past dividend performance, Franklin Rising Dividends Fund has a history of identifying dividend-paying companies we believe are poised for sustainable growth on a forward-looking basis.

The fund aims to provide investors with long-term capital appreciation by investing in financially sound, primarily US-based companies generating consistent dividend increases. We believe our ability to select these dividend-paying companies with long-term growth prospects, and not overpay based on our valuation analysis, can lead to strong risk-adjusted results. This approach to bottom-up stock selection has provided risk mitigation in down markets while delivering competitive returns.

Consistent dividend increases

Fund managers believe that companies with consistently increasing dividends should also realize an increase in the price of their shares. They look for companies that increased their dividend in at least 8 of the previous 10 years, without any decrease.

Reinvested earnings for future growth

A company's payment of dividends must be less than 65% of earnings. In other words, a company must reinvest at least 35% of its earnings in its own future growth. Since earnings growth often fuels a rising dividend, the fund's management believes companies that reinvest a sizable portion of earnings should also enjoy better long-term prospects.

Substantial dividend increases

The team seeks companies that have at least doubled their dividends over the previous 10 years. Generally, the greater the rate of the increase over time, the greater the correlation to its positive effect on share price.

Attractive price

Additionally, fund managers utilize a comprehensive suite of valuation tools to seek companies trading below their view of intrinsic value.

Strong balance sheet

Companies with relatively low debt levels generally pose less financial risk. Fund managers look for companies with long-term debt that is no more than 50% of their total capitalization, or senior debt that is rated investment grade or higher.

The information provided is for illustrative purposes. There is no guarantee these objectives will be met.

The benefits

Portfolio of select dividend growth companies

Fund managers seek to invest in resilient companies with consistent and robust dividend growth for their long-term capital appreciation potential.

*Dividend yield is calculated without the deduction of fees and expenses. Dividend yield equals the sum of the four most recent quarterly dividends divided by the share price. The dividend yield quoted here is the yield on securities within the portfolio and should not be used as an indication of the income received from this portfolio. High-dividend stocks may not experience the same capital appreciation as non-dividend paying stocks during periods of high growth of equities.

Emphasis on financially-sound companies and robust dividend growth

Consistent dividend increases suggest the enduring viability of a company's products or services both over time and across a wide variety of economic conditions. The dividend growth of the fund's holdings exceeded that of the benchmark in each of the last ten years.

A strong record of risk mitigation

Over the last 25 years, Franklin Rising Dividends Fund had a significantly lower downside capture ratio than its Morningstar Large Blend category peer group average. Downside capture ratio measures the fund's performance relative to the benchmark S&P 500 Index in a down market; the lower the fund's ratio, the better the manager's risk management of capital during a market decline.

A good defense

10.46% less volatile
than the S&P 500
Index over the 25-year period as measured by standard deviation

Can be the best offense

16.10% higher (25-year) cumulative return
than the S&P 500 Index

77.73% higher (25-year) cumulative return
than its Morningstar Large Blend peer group average

Source: Franklin Templeton. The cumulative return is the aggregate amount that an investment has gained or lost over a set time. Advisor Class shares are only offered to certain eligible investors as stated in the prospectus. They are offered without sales charges or Rule 12b-1 fees. The fund offers multiple share classes, which are subject to different fees and expenses that will affect their performance. Please see the prospectus for details. Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Standard deviation reflects a fund's volatility. It shows how far the returns deviate from the expected returns based on its past performance. The higher the standard deviation, the higher the fund's volatility.

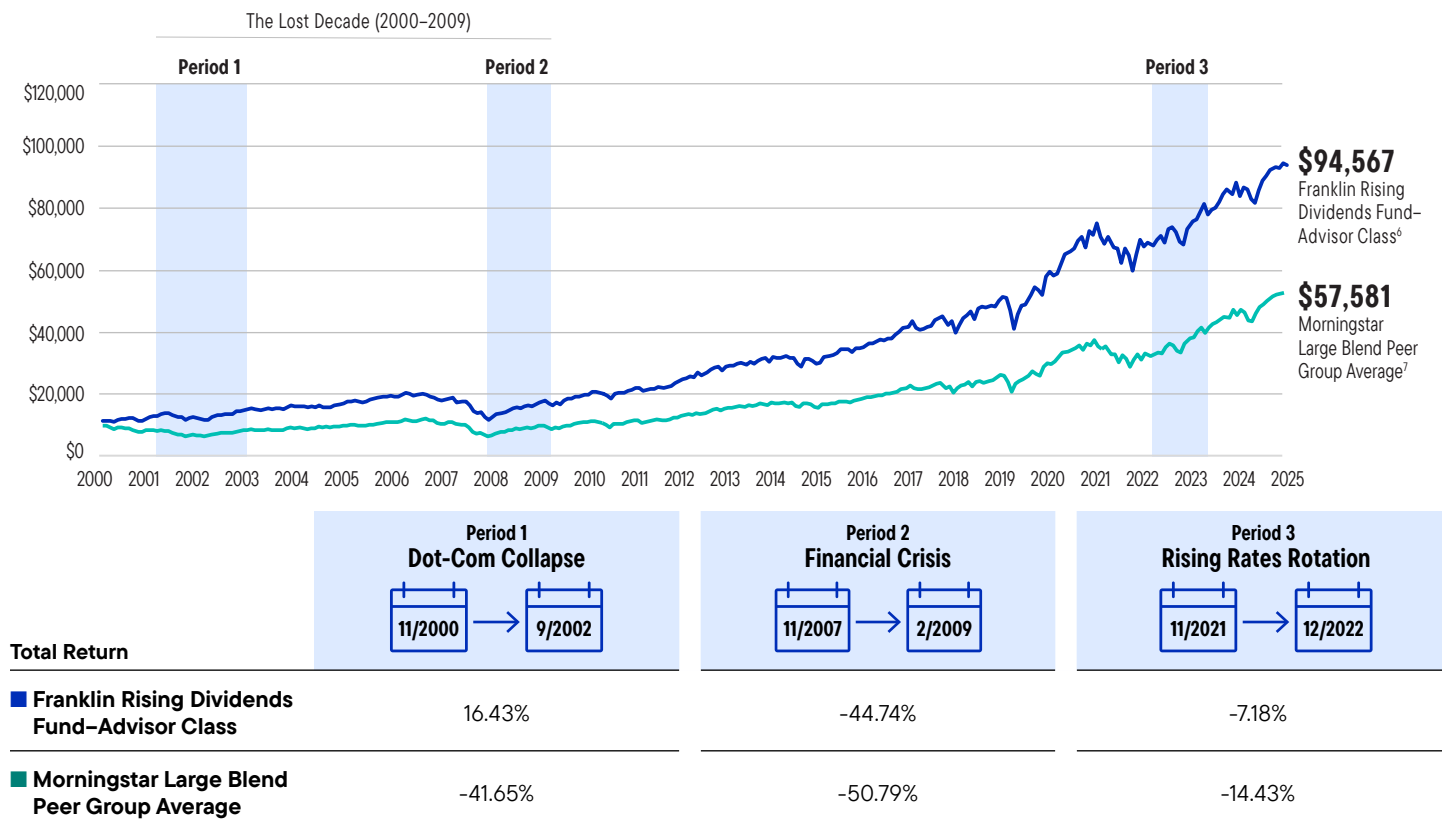

4. Source: © 2026 Morningstar. All rights reserved. The S&P 500 Index is the Fund's benchmark. Indexes are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in an index. Returns data represents cumulative total returns and assumes reinvestment of dividends. The Morningstar Large Blend Peer Group is based on the performance of all share classes of all funds within a Morningstar classification. It reflects the effect of any expense waivers and does not include sales charges. 5. The downside capture ratios are based on monthly returns and calculated against the S&P 500 Index, which represents the US equity market. The ratio explains how a portfolio performed in time periods where the benchmark's returns were less than zero. A downside capture ratio of less than 100 indicates that a fund lost less than its benchmark during periods of losses for the benchmark.

9. Source: © 2026 Morningstar as of 12/31/2025. The Active Share Score represents the portion of stock holdings in an actively managed fund that differs from its benchmark index. Active share scores range from 0 to 100. An active share score of 0 indicates a portfolio that is identical to its primary benchmark index, while an active share score of 100 represents a portfolio composition that holds no overlapping positions. Different position allocation amounts contribute to active share score and are subject to change. A high active share score does not guarantee positive fund performance, or that a fund will outperform its benchmark index. Active shares may be a useful metric for investors to consider, along with other information, to evaluate whether to invest in a particular fund, but does not serve as a predictor of excess return or manager skill.

10. Chart compares the best, average and worst rolling 10-year returns for the Fund vs. the S&P 500 Index for the 25-year period ending 12/31/2025.

11. Prior to 9/10/18, Class A shares were offered at a higher initial sales charge of 5.75%; thus actual returns would have differed. Total returns with sales charges have been restated to reflect the current maximum initial sales charge of 5.50%.

12. 30-Day SEC Yield is calculated using the net income (interest and dividends) per share earned over a trailing 30-day period (annualized), divided by the fund's share price at the end of that period. It may not equal the fund's actual income distribution rate, which reflects the fund's past dividends paid to shareholders. Gross expenses are the fund's total annual operating expenses as of the fund's prospectus available at the time of publication. Actual expenses may be higher and may impact portfolio returns. Net expenses reflect contractual fee waivers, expense caps and/or reimbursements, which cannot be terminated prior to 1/31/2025 without Board consent. Additional amounts may be voluntarily waived and/or reimbursed and may be modified or discontinued at any time without notice.

13. The total annual operating expenses are as of the fund's prospectus available at the time of publication. Actual expenses may be higher and may impact portfolio returns.

All investments involve risks, including possible loss of principal. The investment style may become out of favor, which may have a negative impact on performance. To the extent the portfolio invests in a concentration of certain securities, regions or industries, it is subject to increased volatility. Dividends may fluctuate and are not guaranteed, and a company may reduce or eliminate its dividend at any time. Small- and mid-cap stocks involve greater risks and volatility than large-cap stocks. The manager may consider environmental, social and governance (ESG) criteria in the research or investment process; however, ESG considerations may not be a determinative factor in security selection. In addition, the manager may not assess every investment for ESG criteria, and not every ESG factor may be identified or evaluated. These and other risks are detailed in the fund's prospectus.

Different share classes of funds may be subject to different sales and distribution charges and achieve different returns. Certain share classes are only offered to eligible investors as stated in the prospectus.
