

Putnam Focused Large Cap Growth ETF

PGRO
Commentary | as of December 31, 2025

Key Takeaways

- Markets: US equity markets delivered gains in the fourth quarter, driven by strong earnings and Fed interest-rate cuts. Gains were modest for large-cap growth stocks.
- Contributors: Stock selection in health care and consumer discretionary
- Detractors: Stock selection in information technology and communication services
- Outlook: We continue to see structural tailwinds and exciting multiyear trends that we believe can drive sustained growth for many businesses.

Performance Review

- The strategy posted a modest positive return, but underperformed its benchmark for the quarter (Market Price Return). Stock selection in information technology and communication services weighed most on results. Offsetting some of the weakness were selections in health care and consumer discretionary.
- Top contributors to relative performance included an overweight position in Eli Lilly (health care) and an out-of-benchmark position in Capital One (financial services). Detractors included underweight exposure to Alphabet (communication services) and an overweight position in Advanced Micro Devices (information technology).
- Notable new positions added during the quarter included Lam Research (information technology), Advanced Micro Devices (information technology), and General Electric (industrials). Notable sales included TransDigm (industrials), Copart (industrials), and American Tower (real estate).

Outlook

- Whether momentum is taking a breather or we're seeing the start of a lasting fade is not a call we are trying to make. However, we continue to see structural tailwinds and exciting multiyear trends that we believe can drive sustained growth for many businesses.
- While we remain vigilant about macroeconomic factors, our process is driven through a bottom-up stock selection process married with top-down growth themes.
- Our efforts, with the help of the analyst team, have consistently focused on identifying companies that can succeed in a variety of economic environments and do not require an economic acceleration to do so. We continue to monitor all information and will assess the impact to the fundamentals on a stock-by-stock basis.
- Changes in the relative positioning of the strategy are primarily a result of our fundamental, bottom-up process of evaluating the opportunity and risk of individual stocks. Our largest absolute position is information technology; however, we are roughly in line with the benchmark in terms of our allocation. Our largest underweight is to consumer discretionary. We have no exposure to the consumer staples or energy.

Performance data quoted represents past performance, which does not guarantee future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than the figures shown. Principal value and investment returns will fluctuate, and investors' shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Performance would have been lower if fees had not been waived in various periods. Total returns assume the reinvestment of all distributions and the deduction of all fund expenses. An investor cannot invest directly in an index, and unmanaged index returns do not reflect any fees, expense or sales charges. Returns for periods of less than one year are not annualized. For current month-end performance, please visit franklintempleton.com. Net Asset Value (NAV) returns are based on the NAV of the ETF; Market Price returns are based upon the official closing price of the ETF's shares. Returns are average annualized total returns, except for those periods of less than one year, which are cumulative. Market Price returns are calculated using the closing price as of 4 p.m. Eastern time on each trading day (when NAV is normally determined for most funds), and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times. Performance for the ETF and its benchmark index are as of the ETF's last trading day before the end of the period.

Gross expenses are the fund's total annual operating expenses as of the fund's prospectus available at the time of publication. Actual expenses may be higher and may impact portfolio returns. Net expenses reflect contractual fee waivers, expense caps and/or reimbursements, which cannot be terminated prior to 12/31/2026 without Board consent. Additional amounts may be voluntarily waived and/or reimbursed and may be modified or discontinued at any time without notice.

What are the Risks?

All investments involve risks, including possible loss of principal. The investment style may become out of favor, which may have a negative impact on performance. To the extent the portfolio invests in a concentration of certain securities, regions or industries, it is subject to increased volatility. The portfolio is non-diversified and may invest in a relatively small number of issuers, which may negatively impact the performance and result in greater fluctuation in value. The manager may consider environmental, social and governance (ESG) criteria in the research or investment process; however, ESG considerations may not be a determinative factor in security selection. In addition, the manager may not assess every investment for ESG criteria, and not every ESG factor may be identified or evaluated. These and other risks are discussed in the fund's prospectus.

Important Information

Effective September 15, 2025, the fund transitioned to a 'transparent' ETF, disclosing its complete portfolio holdings daily and operating under Rule 6c-11 of the Investment Company Act of 1940. Effective July 1, 2025, the all-inclusive management fee decreased to 0.49%. Refer to the prospectus supplement for more information.

The information provided is not a complete analysis of every material fact regarding any country, market, industry, security or fund. Because market and economic conditions are subject to change, comments, opinions and analyses are rendered as of the date of this material and may change without notice. A portfolio manager's assessment of a particular security, investment or strategy is not intended as individual investment advice or a recommendation or solicitation to buy, sell or hold any security or to adopt any investment strategy; it is intended only to provide insight into the fund's portfolio selection process. Holdings are subject to change.

ETFs and ETPs trade like stocks, fluctuate in market value and may trade at prices above or below the ETFs/ETPs net asset value. Brokerage commissions and ETF expenses will reduce returns. ETF/ETP shares may be bought or sold throughout the day at their market price, not their Net Asset Value (NAV), on the exchange on which they are listed. Shares of ETFs/ETPs are tradable on secondary markets and may trade either at a premium or a discount to their NAV on the secondary market. Canada: This content is intended only for Canadian institutional investors that qualify as "permitted clients" as defined in National Instrument 31-103 - Registration Requirements, Exemptions and Ongoing Registrant Obligations. U.S. securities laws generally limit a non-U.S. fund's purchase of a U.S. registered mutual fund or ETF/ETP (a "U.S. Fund") to no more than 3% of the U.S. Fund's voting stock. You should consult your legal counsel prior to investing in a U.S. Fund.

The Russell 1000 Growth Index measures the performance of the large-cap growth segment of the U.S. equity universe.
